

PSYCHIC AND NUMEROLOGIST REVEAL

DAILY Voice looks into the future of our celebs & politics

16

2020

VISION

PSYCHIC: Belinda shares her predictions for 2016

ARE YOU ready for a new-look Julius Malema, or to see JZ step down, or perhaps have Mmusi Maimane as president?

REPORTING BY Nathan Adams

The Daily Voice spoke to two mense known for predicting the future and they dropped some bombshells on what we can look forward to in 2016.

Psychic medium Belinda Silbert says the drought crisis, petrol price and Eskom load shedding won't get any better this year.

"The drought will worsen although in September there could be an improvement with unexpected rainfall," says Belinda.

"The very hot summer could be followed by an exceptionally cold winter in which Eskom will once again be unable to supply South Africa adequately.

"...instability in the Middle East will not allow oil prices to remain at their present low."

We also spoke to renowned numerologist Sandy Smith who predicts quite a tough year for South Africans.

Sandy says: "The rand will be running around like a chicken without a head, directionless, until October 2016."

She predicts a recovery by February 2017, but warns mense to be wise with their geld.

Contact Sandy at sandy@numerology.co.za and Belinda at www.belindasilbert.co.za.

NUMBER GAME: Sandy is a renowned numerologist

EMO ADAMS

SANDY and Belinda predict great things for entertainer EMO ADAMS, who recently tied the knot.

Sandy says: "Opportunities for performance and strengthening of ties in and with Holland [Amsterdam in particular] seem to be beckoning for him.

"This will be a very positive year for him indeed!

"EMO is in a fantastic career and money time, and this will continue until 2018.

"He will win awards, be awarded contracts and have signings opportunities. He will do some collaborations and be placed heavily into the public eye.

"Social media will be a big asset to his career.

"He will be exposed to the world, and could through an international window have performance opportunities, appearing on a world platform."

But Sandy warns: "Unfortunately there is someone ill around him... just hope it isn't EMO, and that he will take care of himself."

Belinda says: "EMO ADAMS could make significant connections in Nollywood this year, and the Nigerian film industry could bring about a surprise new turning-point in his already magnificent career."

NIZAAM CARR

SANDY says Nizaam has injury problems that will start to surface from February of 2016 through to April 2018.

"However, he is in probably his most 'front line' time of his career," Sandy adds.

"He has fame all around him, recognition... but there is a move for him career-wise and his money is about to improve.

"He will have to watch his communication as he has a temper driven by control issues although he is solid and very structured and the ability to be the head of a team, and or business and will do well with property."

Belinda says: "Nizaam Carr and his wife could have happy news about a new baby this year, and he will be in great demand professionally.

"In this lifetime, he will mentor and uplift many men and he could become a living legend.

"His devotion to his faith will be an example to many people.

"His challenges this year could be knowing when to say no to offers and not to push through old injuries that could resurface at times."